Portfolio Manager's Half-Yearly Review

Markets

Small-cap equities in the Asia Pacific ex Japan region generated positive returns over the six months to 31 January 2017, but underperformed the Asian regional large-cap index. I view quarterly returns as an ebb and flow of the market. As I invest over a three to five year investment horizon, I prefer not to look at short term market movements and speculate on what may have caused the underperformance.

My working assumption is that the world economy over the next five years will be bumpy at best. Hence, it is even more important to back winning businesses and buy them at valuations that leave sufficient margin for safety. It has never been easy to do this and it is definitely not getting any easier. It requires hard work to unearth successful businesses and patience before one makes money in them. I am ready for both. Additionally, the strength of our 52 Asian equity research analysts, including 4 designated small-cap analysts, will continue to provide us with an edge over the market when it comes to identifying attractive investment opportunities.

Performance Review

Over the six month period ended 31 January 2017, the Company's net asset value ("NAV") very marginally underperformed the Asian regional large-cap index, but outperformed the small-cap index. The Company's NAV returned 10.2%, compared to a return of 10.3% for the MSCI All Countries Asia ex Japan Index (the Company's Comparative Index). During the same period, the Company's share price rose by 17.2%. All figures are in Sterling and on a total return basis.

Lack of exposure to large-cap stocks such as Samsung Electronics and Alibaba Group detracted the most from the Company's relative performance as technology stocks gained sharply. However, this helped the Company's holding in SK Hynix as higher DRAM (dynamic random access memory) prices due to tight demand/supply conditions buoyed the South Korean memory chipmaker's fourth quarter earnings.

High conviction holdings in LT Group and Pou Sheng International also detracted. Shares in LT Group declined amid concerns about a rise in excise taxes. However, the company, which owns the Marlboro brand in Philippines, continues to benefit from secular consumption growth and a shift towards premium brands. Meanwhile, the holding in Chinese sportswear retailer Pou Sheng International declined following concerns around management changes over the accounting treatment of its December 2016 sales data. The company should continue to benefit from its strong brand portfolio including Nike, Adidas, Reebok and Puma, as well as from new store roll-outs.

Conversely, the position in Hong Kong-listed apparels and accessories manufacturer Luen Thai Holdings surged after receiving a takeover offer from state-owned Shangtex. The company's decision to dispose of its non-core businesses and factory properties was also well received by investors.

Investment strategy

I continue to manage the Company's portfolio from an absolute returns perspective. Each security is owned for what it can contribute to returns rather than on whether it is part of an index. I look for companies with strong competitive advantages and good management teams, and try to buy them at reasonable prices. The core to the investment philosophy is the idea that if we lose less money during market drawdowns, then we should be able to compound money at higher rates in the long term. The key to this is to avoid risky stocks. The Company avoids unproven business models, highly geared companies, cyclical businesses on peak margins and stocks trading on high earnings or cash flow multiples. Given that Asia has more than 17,500 listed companies, the opportunity to find hidden gems is immense.

I continued to find attractive long term investment opportunities across the region over the review period. As a result, the number of stocks in the portfolio increased from 155 at the end of July 2016 to 171 at the end of January 2017. However, there were no major changes to the portfolio's overall positioning at the country and sector levels, except for minor adjustments driven by stock-specific opportunities (see chart below).

With regards to the use of gearing - as always, returns will be driven by stock picking and I will use gearing when I have more ideas than money. I have, therefore, not used gearing in any meaningful way so far.

Outlook

There is certainly no shortage of market commentators who will provide a soundbite as to where they believe global financial markets are heading over the coming months. I do not wish to make such predictions. As Warren Buffet often says, "Forecasts may tell you a great deal about the forecaster, they tell you nothing about the future."

I pay little attention to forecasts which are aired 24/7 on business channels. They do not help in making money. I feel my time is better spent understanding the businesses that I invest in. However, as I said at the start, I feel that it is difficult to say how the current unorthodox macro-economic policies as well as ongoing political changes will shape the world. Further, given the significant economic and political uncertainty currently present more widely across the globe, it is possible that there may even be a bear market in the coming two or three years (to be clear, I am not predicting a bear market; I am just not excluding the possibility of one). Hence, we have bought a significant amount of protection in terms of long dated out of the money put options. It is good to be fearful when others are greedy. However in my opinion, any kind of major pullback in the market, if it were to happen, would be an opportunity to accumulate more interesting businesses, as long-term fundamentals of Asia are good with rising education levels and the potential for improved productivity which follows. As is often said, "You make your money in the bear market; you just realise the profits in a bull market".

Interim Management Report and Responsibility Statement

Bonus issue of subscription shares

At the Company's General Meeting held on 2 December 2016, shareholders approved the bonus issue of subscription shares on the basis of one subscription share for every five held by qualifying investors. Each subscription share gives the holder the right, but not the obligation, to subscribe for one ordinary share on the annual exercise dates. The subscription shares can be exercised annually in the 25 business days preceding the last business day in November this year, and in 2018 and 2019. The exercise price is equal to the published NAV of 366.88 pence per ordinary share on 2 December 2016 plus a premium of 1% if exercised this year (370.75 pence), a premium of 4% if exercised in 2018 (381.75 pence) and a premium of 7% (392.75 pence) if exercised in 2019, rounded up to the nearest quarter penny.

Share Repurchase and Treasury Shares

Repurchases of ordinary shares are made at the discretion of the Board and within guidelines set by it from time to time and in light of prevailing market conditions. Shares will only be repurchased when it results in an enhancement to the NAV of the ordinary shares for the remaining shareholders. In order to assist in managing the discount, the Board has shareholder approval to hold in Treasury any ordinary shares repurchased by the Company, rather than cancelling them. Any shares held in Treasury would only be re-issued at NAV per share or at a premium to NAV per share.

During the six months to 31 January 2017, no ordinary shares were repurchased for cancellation or holding in Treasury and none have been repurchased since this date and as at the date of this report.

Principal risks and uncertainties

The Board, with the assistance of the Manager, has developed a risk matrix which, as part of the risk management and internal controls process, identifies the key risks faced by the Company. The Board believes that the principal risks and uncertainties faced by the Company continue to fall in the following categories: market risk; performance risk; discount control risk; gearing risk; derivatives risk; and currency risk. Other risks include tax and regulatory risks; and operational risks (service providers). Information on each of these risks can be found in the Strategic Report section of the Annual Report for the year ended 31 July 2016. A copy of the Annual Report can be found on the Company's pages of the Manager's website at www.fidelityinvestmenttrusts.com.

These risks and uncertainties have not materially changed during the six months to 31 January 2017 and are equally applicable to the remaining six months of the Company's financial year.

A bonus issue of subscription shares to ordinary shareholders on the basis of one subscription share for every five ordinary shares held took place on 5 December 2016. Each subscription share gives the holder the right, but not the obligation, to subscribe for one ordinary share upon payment of the subscription price. The subscription price is based on the published unaudited NAV per ordinary share at 2 December 2016, plus a premium depending upon the year in which the right is exercised. The exercise dates, subscription prices and premiums are as follows:

	Exercise date	Exercise price	Premium
First exercise date	30 November 2017	370.75p	1%
Second exercise date	30 November 2018	381.75p	4%
Final exercise date	29 November 2019	392.75p	7%

After the final exercise date of 29 November 2019, the Company will appoint a trustee who will exercise any rights remaining that have not been exercised by shareholders, providing that by doing so a profit can be realised. To realise a profit the sale proceeds from selling the resulting ordinary shares in the market would need to be in excess of the 392.75 pence per share price of exercising the rights, plus any related expenses and fees. Any resulting profit will be paid to the holders of those outstanding subscription shares, unless the amount payable to an individual holder is less than £5, in which case such sum shall be retained for the benefit of the Company.

Subscription shares carried no rights to vote, to receive a dividend or to participate in the winding up of the Company.

11 Net Asset Value per Ordinary Share

The net asset value per ordinary share is based on net assets of £258,632,000 (31 July 2016: £237,545,000 and 31 January 2016: £183,081,000) and on 67,488,213 (31 July 2016: 67,488,213 and 31 January 2016: 67,488,213) ordinary shares, being the number of ordinary shares in issue at the period end.

The diluted net asset value per ordinary share reflects the potential dilution in the net asset value per ordinary share if the rights of the 13,497,642 subscription shares in issue had been exercised on 31 January 2017 at the first exercise date price of 370.75 pence per share. The basis of the calculation is in accordance with the guidelines laid down by the AIC.

Undiluted and diluted net asset values per ordinary share are provided to the London Stock Exchange on a daily basis.

CONTRACT FOR DIFFERENCE (CFD)

A contract for difference is a derivative. It is a contract between the Company and an investment house at the end of which the parties exchange the difference between the opening price and the closing price of an underlying asset of the specified financial instrument. It does not involve the Company buying or selling the underlying asset, only agreeing to receive or pay the movement in its share price. A contract for difference allows the Company to gain access to the movement in the share price by depositing a small amount of cash known as margin. The Company may reason that the asset price will rise, by buying ("long" position) or fall, by selling ("short" position). If the Company trades long, dividends are received and interest is paid. If the Company trades short, dividends are paid and interest is received.

CUSTODIAN

An entity that holds (as intermediary) the Company's assets, arranges the settlement of transactions and administers income, proxy voting and corporate actions. The Company's Custodian is JPMorgan Chase Bank.

DEPOSITORY

An entity that oversees the custody, cash arrangements and other AIFMD responsibilities of the Company. J.P. Morgan Europe act as the Company's Depository.

DERIVATIVES

Financial instruments (such as futures, options and contracts for difference) whose value is derived from the value of an underlying asset.

DISCOUNT

If the share price of the Company is lower than the net asset value per share, the Company's shares are said to be trading at a discount. The discount is shown as a percentage of the net asset value. The opposite of a discount is a premium. It is more common for an investment trust to trade at a discount than a premium.

FAIR VALUE

The fair value is the best measure of the realisable value of the investments, including derivatives, at a point in time and this is measured as:

- Listed investments – valued at bid prices, or last market prices, as available, otherwise at published price quotations;
- Contracts for difference – valued as the difference between the settlement price of the contract and the underlying shares in the contract (unrealised gains or losses); and

- Options – valued at the quoted trade price for the contract.

GEARING

Gearing describes the level of the Company's exposure and is expressed as a percentage of shareholders' funds. It reflects the amount of exposure the Company uses to invest in the market. It can be obtained through the use of bank loans, bank overdrafts and derivatives, in order to increase the Company's exposure to investments. If assets rise in value, gearing magnifies the return to shareholders. Correspondingly, if assets fall in value, gearing magnifies the fall. Derivatives are used as a way of gaining exposure to the price movements of shares without buying the underlying shares directly.

GEARING PERCENTAGE

In a simple example, if a company has £100 million of net assets and a total portfolio of £108 million, with £8 million of borrowings (either via bank loans or derivatives), then the shareholders' funds are 8% geared. Normally, the higher the gearing percentage, the more sensitive the Company's shares will be to the movements up and down in the value of the investment portfolio.

GROSS ASSET EXPOSURE

A measure of the Company's total equity exposure. It is calculated as the sum of all long exposures, after taking account of hedging positions and the absolute value of all short exposures.

HEDGING

A strategy aimed at minimising or eliminating the risk or loss through adverse movements normally involving taking a position in a derivative such as future or option.

NET ASSET VALUE (NAV)

Net asset value is sometimes also described as "shareholders' funds", and represents the total value of the Company's assets less the total value of its liabilities. For valuation purposes it is common to express the net asset value on a per share basis.

NET ASSET VALUE PER ORDINARY SHARE – UNDILUTED

The net asset value divided by the number of ordinary shares in issue.

NET ASSET VALUE PER ORDINARY SHARE – DILUTED

The net asset value per ordinary share – undiluted – adjusted to reflect what the net asset value per share would have been if all the rights attached to the outstanding subscription share in issue had been exercised. A dilution occurs when the exercise price of the subscription share rights is less than the net asset value per ordinary share – undiluted.

NET MARKET EXPOSURE

A measure of the Company's net equity exposure. It is calculated as the total of all long exposures (less the total of any exposures hedging the portfolio) less the total of all short exposures.

OPTIONS

An option is a contract which gives the right but not the obligation to buy or sell an underlying asset at an agreed price on or before an agreed date. Options may be calls (buy) or puts (sell) and are used to gain or reduce exposure to the underlying asset on a conditional basis.

PREMIUM

If the share price of the Company is higher than the net asset value per share, the Company's shares are said to be trading at a premium. The premium is shown as a percentage of the net asset value. The opposite of a premium is a discount.
